Item 1: Mock-ups

I have worked closely with the team and my clients in order to design the property management website. Many components had usually 3 iterations. The website was mainly made of the home screen and navigation bar, cards that hold property data and individual property pages.

Item 2 & 3: Html/CSS

After designing the different layouts and components, I have written the required Html and CSS. Bootstrap framework was mainly used in order to achieve responsive web pages. The following files are available on GitHub (I have only worked on the html/css not python): properties.html, property.html, layout.html, bootstrap.css and index.html.

Item 4: User Stories

As a group we have all worked on user stories generation. I have contributed through generating some stories, adding acceptance criteria and descriptions. I have also helped manage and organise the user stories in JIRA through placing them in different sprints and releases.

Item 5: Dummy Data

I have helped creating dummy data that is used to fill out property fields in order to showcase the website features. This included collecting a large number of high quality images that are used as place holders. Each property also has some dummy text and interior images for the carousel.
